

The Southern Adriatic

This region is steeped in culture, tradition and the magnificent islands and coastal villages of southern and central Dalmatia. It is a chain of islands from which over the centuries developed an architectural personality and a very special culture. Also, this region offers a perfect opportunity for sampling the endemic gastronomic delicacies which surround you on all sides. The influences of tourism have renewed and saved from being lost, a host of traditional recipes which will delight you.

Under the sails visit the islands of the Dubrovnik archipelago, discover all about the history and uniqueness of this region, and then enjoy yourself in the night-clubs or at a party of your own arrangement. Consider the offer of our package and choose from it that which satisfies your wishes. If you have a requirement for something specific, please contact the Adriatic Team workshop and challenge our creativity. We are here for you.
